

DELEGATES APPOINTED

President of Good Roads Association Takes Action.

EVERY COUNTY INCLUDED

Effort Was Made to Secure Men Who Will Attend

Guthrie, O. T., April 13.—A. C. Titus, of Crescent City, president of the Oklahoma State Good Roads Association, and A. W. McKeand of this city, secretary, have announced the appointment of one hundred and sixty-five delegates to the National Good Roads Association and World's Good Roads congress to be held in St. Louis, May 16 to 21. At the meeting held in Guthrie April 11, when the association was organized, the president and secretary were instructed to appoint five delegates from each nation in the Indian territory, and these are the delegates appointed yesterday.

In making the appointments an effort was made to secure men who would likely attend the convention, and who will attempt to increase the interest in the movement in their districts. Very important matters concerning Oklahoma and the Indian territory are to come up at the convention, and it is the desire that the territories shall be largely represented. As there are no public highways in many parts of the Indian territory, and in other parts are in poor condition, while much of the land is not subject to taxation, an effort is to be made at St. Louis to have the National Good Roads association pass a resolution asking congress to make an appropriation in the statehood bill to aid the future state in putting the roads in proper condition and opening up new roads.

The delegates to the convention appointed yesterday are largely newspaper men, bankers, lawyers and men who have taken an active part in good roads work. They are:

MUNYON'S REVIVAL FOR GOOD HEALTH SPREADING

I have started a great and far spreading revival for health. I have set the people thinking and am proving to them that good health is possible, no matter what the disease may be. I claim that nearly all ailments can be traced to malnutrition or lack of nourishment. I assert that people die, early, that the average life is shortened because the blood and the nerves are starved. I believe that disordered stomachs are responsible for nearly all bodily ills. Where a person eats heartily and digests his food properly the blood is vitalized and enriched, which sets the liver and kidneys and all the vital organs into active and healthful operation. Where the stomach is strong the blood is strong; where the blood is strong the nerves are strong; where the nerves are strong the heart, lungs and liver are strong. In my opinion most people die from starvation; that is, they starve the blood, they starve the nerves and the general tissues of the whole body. You may fill the stomach with choice food and other life-giving foods, but if the stomach fails to digest the same then it does more harm than good. Keep this organ well and the rest of the body will be well; keep this organ well and there will be no reason why the average life should not be more than three score years and ten; keep this organ well and there will be no need of insane asylums and little need of hospitals except for surgical work; keep this organ well and intemperance will largely disappear and the morals and vitality of the people will be radically improved.

Indigestion shuts out the sunlight of hope and wraps its victim in a shroud of gloom. Preachers should preach the doctrine of good health, for a healthy community means a moral community. I believe that if dyspepsia and indigestion were rooted out of existence to-morrow prisons could be turned into workshops and saloons into libraries in a very brief time. Great revivals have been held in all ages for the purpose of leading men out of darkness into light, out of sin into righteousness. Let there be revivals now for good health. Let us resolve that we will be healthy—that we will drive from our system all vestiges of disease. Let us throw open the doors of our souls and admit the spirit of hope; let us surround ourselves with healthful influences and pure-minded friends; let us deny ourselves everything that is harmful to our minds as well as our bodies; let us resolve to be forgiving; let us resolve that no man shall be nobler or fairer minded than we; let us resolve that we have a duty to perform not only to ourselves but for all mankind—namely, to possess good health—MUNYON.

PERRY FINDS COAL.

Will Investigate and Determine the Full Situation.

Perry, O. T., April 13.—The Republican says: On the farm of Orville Kenton, three miles north of Perry, a surface vein of coal eight inches thick was found last week at a depth of forty feet. This is the first or earliest developments are looked for in the second and third veins.

The first vein was found in sinking a well and now they are going down and have reached a drift of slate. Underneath the slate of course will be the second vein of coal and will probably be a rich thing.

This is a great strike for Perry, especially if the lower veins are as good as the upper. Several small veins were passed through in going down the forty feet to the eight inch vein. The coal in the eight inch vein is of very good quality and burns well.

SENT TO THOBURN

Secretary Is Made the Recipient of General Correspondence.

Guthrie, O. T., April 13.—Secretary Thoburn says that all the letters received at the government building intended for nobody in particular are sent to his office. He got a letter today from a man who wanted to know how to get fish to stock his fish pond.

This reminded the secretary that if all the farmers who want to stock fish ponds will write to him he can assist them in getting the fish from the fish commissioner. He seems to think that quite a number of these fish ponds are being built in the territory.

FUNERAL OF HAWKINS

Most Unique and Best Known Lawton Character Is No More.

Lawton, O. T., April 13.—The most unique and best known character of Lawton from "rag-town" days in August, 1901, to the present time, was buried today. During the eight days that elapsed from the time that Col. J. W. Hawkins received the three shots from the 45-caliber Colts of L. T. Russell, of the State Democrat, there have been alternating rumors of hopes for his recovery and the prospect of his immediate death.

In his last hours there appeared no indication that a change for the worse had taken place, but suddenly he moved uneasily, with the failing strength of his great form, he raised himself and fell back dead.

Col. Hawkins was a native of Georgia, but has spent the greater part of his life in the west. Being a well-proportioned, compactly-built man who stood six feet seven, it is not strange that wherever he went the memory of his giant form was impressed upon all who saw him. At Cripple Creek he worked for the Wells-Fargo Express company. He spent some time on the Pacific coast.

When the Kiowa-Comanche opening was announced, he headed for Lawton for the purpose of prospecting for the precious metals in the Wichita mountains. For more than a year he was assistant chief of police under Heck Thomas. He was sergeant-at-arms in the lower house of the last Oklahoma legislature.

The attack made upon him by the State Democrat about a year ago, and after he had ceased to be a public official, started a feud that has resulted in death.

FACTS OF THE CONVENTION

Delegates Were Chosen in the Regular Way.

Guthrie, O. T., April 13.—Dispatches have been sent out from this city since the meeting of the Republican territorial convention, which conveyed the idea that there was a bitter factional fight in the selection of delegates to the Chicago convention. People who thoroughly understand the situation know that it is a mistake.

In some parts of the territory people are led to believe that Governor Barnes and some of Congressmen McGuire's friends made a bitter fight on Seymour Foose because he was regarded as a Flynn admirer, and that Governor Ferguson threw the influence of his administration to the support of Mr. Foose.

It can be said to the credit of Governor Ferguson that he did endorse Seymour Foose because he was from the governor's home county, and that was the extent of his attempts to influence the election of delegates to the Chicago convention.

Position to the Republican party and that it was not right for him to take part in the selection of delegates outside of his own county.

Then, in regard to opposition of Governor Barnes, it can be stated that the men who were on the inside of the combination that elected the delegates to the Chicago convention, very well know that Governor Barnes had Mr. Foose on his slate from the start, and at no time in the contest was Mr. Flynn's name mentioned. The candidates were too busy hunting for votes to make any fights on anybody. If a candidate had a good backing he was wanted in the combination, irrespective of whether he was for or against anybody.

When the combination was formed each of the parties to the combination could, of course, count on his own county for the whole ticket. These were Cotterell, of Logan, with 31 votes; Fassett, of Kingsfisher, with 22 votes; Foose, of Blaine, with 16 votes; Tetterick, of Kay, with 15 votes; Lowry, of Payne, with 11 votes; and Jackson, of Canadian, with 10 votes.

It took 51 votes to nominate and these candidates, by forming a pool of their own counties, had 123 votes. Then Caddo county, with 21 votes, was instructed for Fassett, and Custer county, with 14 votes, was instructed for Foose. In addition, the 12 votes of Dewey, 6 of Day, 20 of Woodward, and the 14 votes of Cleveland were understood to have been promised to Foose. There would give the combination 210 votes, and left them 41 to get from the other counties, and the very first test vote, which was to suspend the rules, showed that the combination had more than enough votes to elect.
